— THE STUDIO

Hi, I'm Mary Beth.

I'm a surface pattern designer and watercolorist working out of my studio under the name Floxie. Every collection begins on paper: hand-drawn and painted motifs, atmospheric watercolors, animal portraits, and sea life — then translated into pattern collections ready for licensing across textiles, paper goods, home, and apparel.

I spent five years living in Italy near Venice and Milan, traveling across Europe, Iceland, Africa, and all of Italy. The Amalfi Coast was one of my favorites — its lemons, olive trees, ceramic tile, and slow sunlit way of life still shape the work today.

Available for licensing, commission, and collaboration.

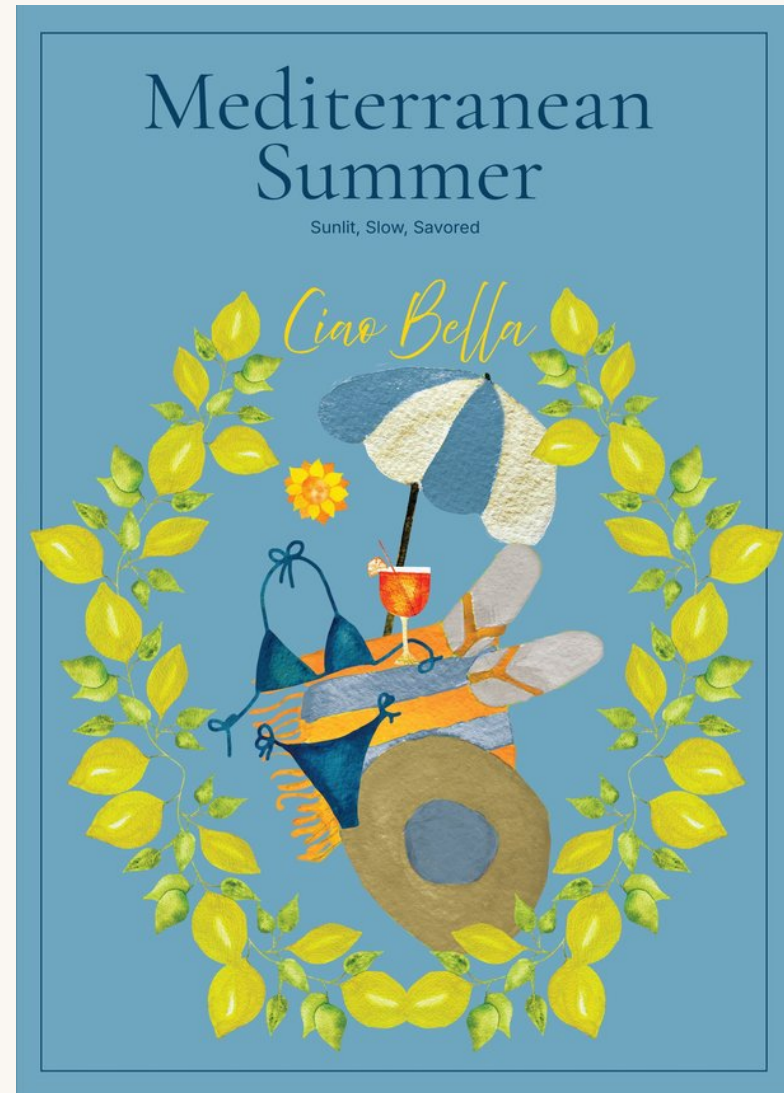

Mediterranean Summer

Sunlit, slow, savored.

A love letter to the Italian coast — lemons, olive branches, spritz cocktails, ceramic tile, and seaside terraces. Built from summers along the Amalfi Coast during five years of living in Italy. Equally at home on kitchen textiles, party paper, and resort apparel.

Hidden Owls

Quiet, watchful, wise.

Subtle, sophisticated patterns where owls peer out from tangled foliage and feathered ferns — inspired by a family of owls that lived in a palm tree near my California home when my boys were little. Ranges across rich jewel tones and soft neutrals.

— APPLICATIONS
